NO LIQUOR THERE.

May be Sold at Point Pleasant but not Legally.

Supposed Counterfeiters not in it so Bad as Their Accuser.

Several newspapers have this week published an article entitled "Not Counterfeit," in which they say one "Sample" had a license to sell whiskey at Point Pleasant but not at Coffman.

These little towns are both on Green river, in the prohibition county of Ohio, and it seems quite singular that any one should have authority to legally sell liquor in one without having the same authority to sell in the other. Neither has any form of organized city government and can not suspend the State prohibition laws. At all events there is no legal authority for selling liquor at Point Pleasant and none of the records of the county show such. The article further says:

Alex Sample, of Coffman, Ohio county, is under recognizance to appear at the May term of Federal Court in Owensboro to answer the charge of selling whiskey without paying the special Government tax. And it all came about because Henry Whittaker and Tilton Littlefield paid for some of the whiskey with what Sample thought was a counterfeit bill. Sample went to Deputy Sheriff Hubert Coffman and had him arrest Whittaker and Littlefield. Saturday they were taken to Owensboro, having been guarded at Livermore through the preceding night.

No warrant had been procured, and while the marshal was preparing to take out one, Deputy Sheriff Coffman showed the bill which the boys had passed, to Commissioner Lindsey. Evidently the boys did not make it, although the first news of the arrest from Livermore indicated that they did. The bill was yellow with age, although it did not have the appearance of having circulated very freely during its existence. Upon closer examination it proved to be a ten dollar bill, issued in 1863, by the Confederate States of America. And Mr. Lindsey thought that the boys had committed no offense for which an action would lie in a United States court. Mr. Sample had just been fooled. He may probably secure the boys' conviction in the State courts for obtaining property under false pretenses. Whittaker and Littlefield were set at liberty.

Sample's troubles did not end with his failure to have his men held over to the grand jury. Immediately after they were dismissed they proceeded to swear out a warrant against Sample for selling whiskey without the special Government tax.

Durrelle and McHenry Unite.

Louisville, Ky., March 2.—Judge George Durrelle and Hon. John J. McHenry have formed a law partnership with offices in the Illinois Life building. The name of the firm will be Durrelle & McHenry.

Mr. McHenry is a son of the late Henry D. McHenry, and one of Ohio county's most worthy sons.

New Bank Building.

Rockport, Ky., March 2.—Work has commenced on the building to be occupied by the Rockport Deposit Bank and it will soon be completed which will add greatly to the beauty of Main street.

Beckham Don't Know.

Gov. Beckham stated before the House Bribery Investigating Committee that he knew nothing of the alleged charges of bribery against legislators as published in a Louisville paper. He gave names of persons who had told him of reports circulated about bribery charges in the last Legislature. This will result in the remainder of the present session being devoted mainly to these investigations.

CIRCUIT COURT.

May be the Most Interesting Held in Ohio County for Years.

The Case of the Commonwealth Against J. W. Boatner May be Tried.

Next Monday the Ohio Circuit Court will convene for a three weeks' term. This promises to be one of the most interesting terms of Circuit Court held here for some time.

There are six murder cases, eleven other felony cases and seventy-three misdemeanor cases, such as selling liquor, carrying concealed deadly weapons, etc., on the docket.

There is also a full civil docket, there being one hundred and nine ordinary actions and one hundred and fifty-four equity actions on the civil docket.

The famous Schleitzbaum-Boatner embezzlement suit stands at the head of the second day's criminal docket, and if a trial of that case is had, very interesting evidence is promised to be developed, as Boatner, who has never gone on the witness stand, will, in all probability, testify.

Heck Became Penitent.

Rockport, Ky., March 2.—His voice broken with sobs, tears streaming down his face and his body shaking with emotion, John Heck, who is accused of forgery, arose at the Baptist church Saturday during the regular church meeting and said that he would leave it to the Lord and the church as to what should be done in the matter of turning him out of the church. Concluding his talk he said that he felt like he was the worst criminal in the State. Heck is an ordained deacon in the Baptist church and the matter was continued until meeting next month.

Important Arrest.

E O Allen was arrested at Horse Branch Tuesday night on a warrant from Marion county, Illinois, charging him with grand larceny. Sheriff Cal P. Keown will leave in a few days to convey the prisoner to Centralia, Ill., where he will be tried.

LATER—Wednesday the Sheriff started with the prisoner to Owensboro to wait the extradition papers, and while the train was stopped at Horse Branch, Allen leaped through an open window and made good his escape and at the hour of going to press nothing farther has been heard of him.

SMALLHOUS, KY.

March 2.—Rev. Briggs was in our midst the 20th and 21st to fill his regular appointment at Equality church, but, owing to the inclemency of the weather, there was no one there.

Rev. Ollie Weir failed to fill his appointment Saturday and Sunday at Smallhouse church.

Messrs. Owen Hunter and Will Howell were in our midst Saturday and Sunday the guests of their parents.

Rev. Edgar Maddox preached an excellent sermon at Smallhouse church Sunday.

Mr. Clarence Overhuls was the guest of Mr. Everett Smith Friday night and at his home Saturday Sunday.

Miss Maud Bali, Mrs. Baker and twin children are very ill of measles. Mrs. Lee Harper is on the sick list. Mrs. G. H. Lawrence, who has been sick for several months, is thought to be some better.

Messrs. Vig P. Morton and Eddie Hunter attended church at Ceralvo Sunday.

Misses Fannie Davis and Nina Bullock and Mr. C. C. Kimbly were the guests of Miss Ethel Hunter Sunday.

Trains Cross Lake on Ice.

Irkutsk, Siberia, March 1.—The first complete train traversed Lake Balkal on the ice railroad at 11 o'clock this morning. It consisted of twenty-five cars.

DEANE HAS BEEN TO MEXICO.

Letters From Him Received by His Wife and Uncle.

Went to Mexico on Business, Stopped at Waco to See Triplett.

Suffering From Recent Illness and Shock at Reports of His Disappearance.

Owensboro, Ky., March 3.—Letters from Guy M. Deane, dated Waco, Texas, to his wife and to James H. Parrish were received yesterday.

James H. Parrish, from the residence of Guy M. Deane, at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday night furnished the following written statement signed by Mrs. Deane and himself:

March 2, 1904.

Letters received tonight from Guy M. Deane, by James H. Parrish and Mrs. Sue G. Deane, his wife, state that he went to Mexico on business and on his return he stopped at Waco, Texas, to see his uncle, R. S. Triplett. When he saw the papers he wrote these letters.

When he reached Waco he was suffering from recent illness and shock occasioned by the news of the notoriety his absence had caused.

Mr. Deane went to the home of Mr. Triplett who knowing the letter had not reached Owensboro, sent the telegram to Mr. James H. Parrish, which was the first news received concerning Mr. Deane.

The public is, therefore, still left in the dark and must draw its conclusions.

It is known that before going to Jackson, Miss., Mr. Deane drew $150 from the bank, and as he traveled on a railroad pass and was to be absent, according to his own statement, only two days, he must have had the trip to Mexico, to some extent, in mind then.

At Jackson he borrowed $100 more, evidently to be sure he would have sufficient funds for his journey. If he only had said he would be absent ten days on business, all this humiliating publicity and search for him by friends and detectives in a dozen cities would have been spared.

ANOTHER BAD WRECK.

Illinois Central Fast Passenger Train Smashed up.

Engineer Killed and Conductor and Brakeman Hurt.

Louisville, March 2.—North-bound passenger train No. 104, on the Illinois Central, due to arrive in Louisville at 7:50 a. m., was wrecked in the yards at Princeton at 3:30 o'clock Tuesday morning. Engineer George Tagg, of Louisville, was killed and Conductor Henry McKinney and Brakeman John T. Jones, both of Louisville, were seriously (and the former it is believed fatally) hurt.

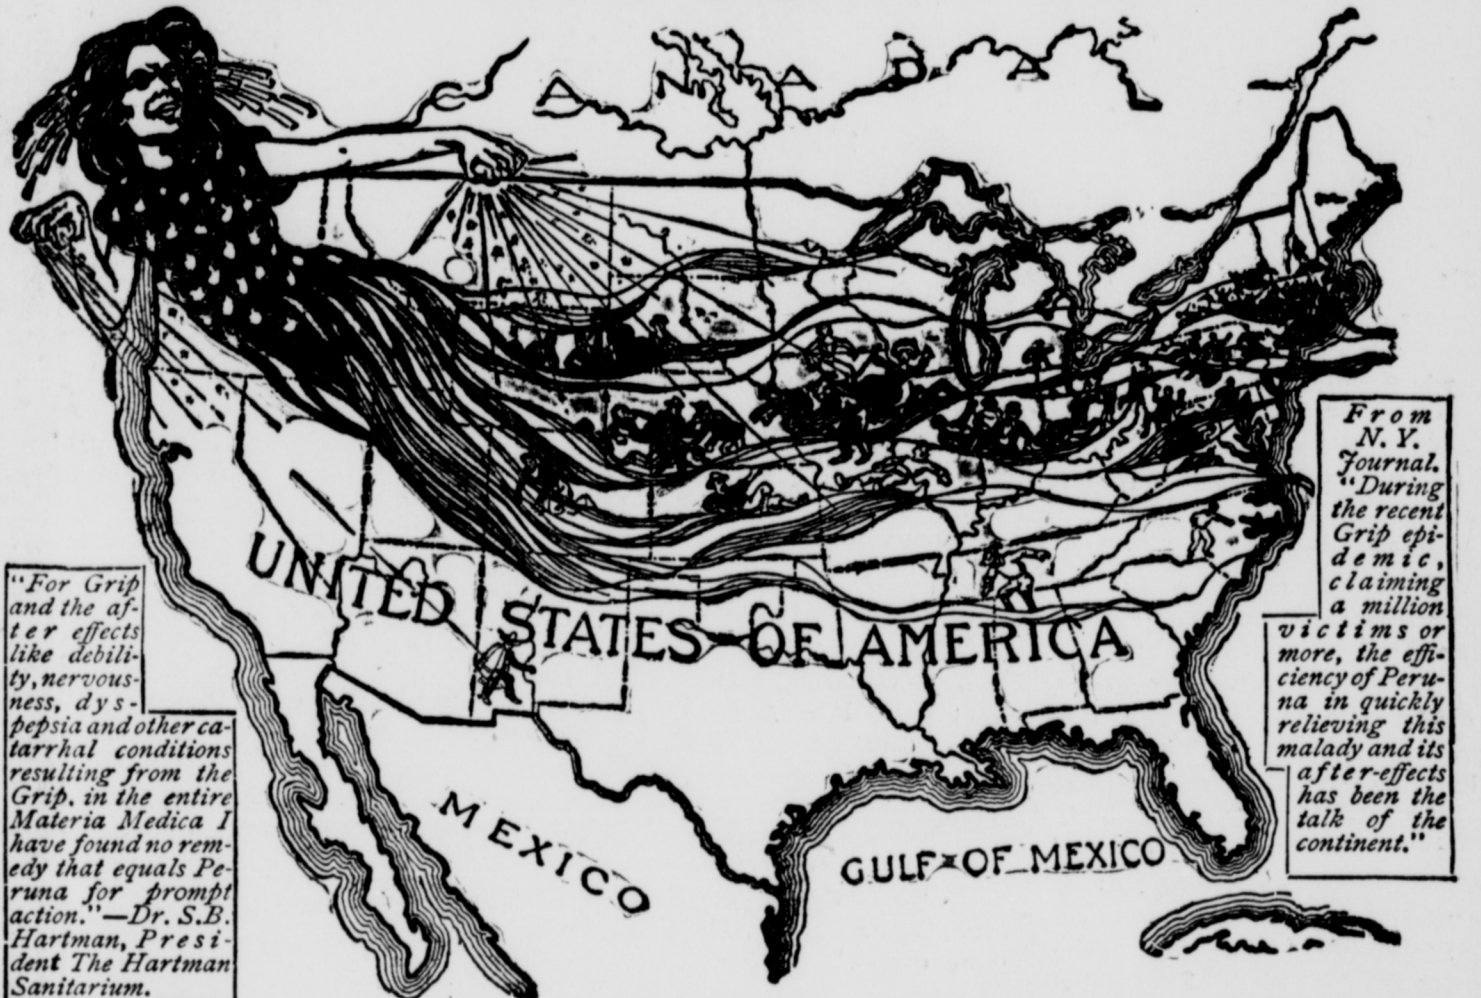

The wreck was caused by the collision of the fast passenger train with a cut of coal cars that had backed from a siding to the main track. The crash came in the darkness, and Engineer Tagg had no time to save himself. The engine leaped into the air and fell forty feet to the bed of the creek below. The body of Mr. Tagg was found under the engine.

Conductor McKinney was thrown through a window in one of the coaches and is badly cut. Fireman Jones escaped with a broken leg and a number of serious bruises.

None of the passenger cars left the track, but several of the coal cars were demolished. The passengers suffered no serious injuries.

O. O. Williams, Centertown, was in town yesterday.

The Grip Leaves Thousands in its Path Weak, Nervous, Dyspeptic, Catarrh Wrecks.

LIKE A DEMON grip has crossed our country, leaving behind scores of physical wrecks.

Victims of catarrh of the head, catarrh of the throat, catarrh of the lungs, catarrh of the stomach, catarrh of the kidneys, catarrh of the pelvic organs, are to be counted by hundreds of thousands. Grip is epidemic catarrh, and sows the seed of chronic catarrh within the system.

This is so true that few grip sufferers are able to make a complete recovery until they have used Peruna.

Never in the history of medicine has a remedy received such unqualified and universal eulogies as Peruna.

A New York Alderman's Experience. Hon. Joseph A. Flinn, alderman Fifth District, writes from 104 Christopher street, New York City, as follows:

"When a pestilence overtakes our people we take precaution as a nation to preserve the citizens against the dread disease.

"La grippe has entered thousands of our homes this fall, and I noticed that the people who used Peruna were quickly restored, while those who depended on doctor's prescriptions, spent weeks in recovering, leaving them weak and emaciated.

"I had a slight attack of la grippe and at once took Peruna, which drove the disease out of my system in a few days and did not hinder me from pursuing my daily work.

"I should like to see our Board of Health give it official recognition and have it used generally among our poor sick people in Greater New York."—Joseph A. Flinn.

D. L. Wallace, a charter member of the International Barber's Union, writes from 15 Western avenue, Minneapolis, Minn.:

"Following a severe attack of la grippe I seemed to be affected badly all over. I suffered with a severe backache, indigestion and numerous ills, so I could neither eat nor sleep, and I thought I would give up my work, which I could not afford to do.

"One of my customers who was greatly helped by Peruna advised me to try it, and I procured a bottle the same day. I used it faithfully and felt a marked improvement. During the next two months I took five bottles, and then felt splendid. Now my head is clear, my nerves steady, I enjoy food, and rest well. Peruna has been worth a dollar a dose to me."—D. L. Wallace.

Mr. O. H. Perry, Atchison, Kansas, writes:

"Again, after repeated trials of your medicines, Peruna and Manalin, I give this as my expression of the wonderful results of your very valuable medicine in its effects in my case after repeated trials.

"First, it cured me of chronic bronchitis of fifteen years' standing by using two bottles of Peruna in January, 1894, and no return of it.

"After I was cured of bronchitis I had la grippe every winter for several winters. But, through the use of Peruna, it got gradually weaker in its severity, until it dwindled down to a mere stupor for two or three days. Now the stupor does not trouble me any more."—O. H. Perry.

A Congressman's Experience. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C.

Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio. Gentlemen—"I am more than satisfied with Peruna, and find it to be an excellent remedy for the grip and catarrh. I have used it in my family and they all join me in recommending it as an excellent remedy."

Very respectfully, George H. White.

If you do not receive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

KNIVES AND PISTOLS

Were Used in a General Fight in Hancock County.

Hawesville, Ky., March 1.—In an attempt to break up a singing school in the Pincheco neighborhood, this county last night, a fierce fight followed in which rocks, clubs, knives and pistols were freely used. Miley Fuqua, a member of the singing school, was shot through the arm and Scott Smith is reported to be seriously cut. Many others were badly bruised, though it is thought none are fatally injured. Sheriff E. G. Bannon and Deputy Thos. Kelly have gone to the scene of the trouble to make arrest.

Mountain Battle.

Owensboro, Ky., March 2.—There is an unconfirmed rumor of a battle waged in the mountains of Knott county between moonshiners and revenue men. According to the rumor William and John Maddix, moonshiners, were killed, and Jack Combs, moonshiner, is badly wounded. The moonshiners were said to be working in a cave when surprised by revenue men, and resisted arrest. One deputy marshal is reported killed.

FARM FOR SALE—47 acres, house, barn and a small orchard, plenty of water, about one half in cultivation, bal'ance in timber. Produced 400 bushel corn last year, two miles North East Cromwell; don't need the place, $300 gets it. E. W. JACKSON. Cromwell, Ky.

JAMES M'DONALD

Was Held Without Bail at Bedford --- Returned to Bloomington.

Bedford, Ind., Mar. 1.—James McDonald, under arrest charged with the murder of Miss Sarah Schaefer, was brought here from Bloomington Monday for his preliminary hearing. There was a large crowd at the station, but no demonstration against him.

McDonald's hearing occupied an hour. His wife and son were present. Fifteen hundred people were crowded outside. McDonald was bound over to the grand jury without bond and returned to Bloomington, where he was again placed in jail.

While attending Court next week, drop in and pay us your extra change on your subscription account. We can use it.

Dick Elected.

Columbus, O., March 1.—Hon. Charles Dick was elected to succeed Senator Mark Hanna by the unanimous vote of the Republicans of both houses. The Democrats voted for John H. Clark.

If not already a subscriber, drop in and take THE REPUBLICAN while attending Court next week.

ONE PRISON TO ANOTHER.

Tennessee Convict to be Turned Over to Kentucky.

Hopkinsville, Ky., March 1.—Babe Cross, who is serving a term in the penitentiary at Nashville, will be released in a day or two, but the sheriff of Warren county will be there to take him in custody and bring him to the Eddyville penitentiary in this state. In 1901 Cross was tried at Clarksville and given three years in the "pen" at Nashville, but escaped from the train. He at once made his way to Kentucky. He was later tried at Bowling Green for horse stealing in two cases, and given eight years in one case and four in the other, but was turned over to the Tennessee authorities to first serve out his term there.

COOPER SCHOOLHOUSE, KY.

March 2.—Farmers are busy sowing oats, burning tobacco beds and preparing for a crop.

Mr. E. W. Jackson, who has been quite sick for some time, is improving.

Mr. Charlie Black, of Hamlin Chapel neighborhood, spent Sunday with his brothers, Readman and James Black, of this neighborhood.

Mr. Lawrence Allen, near Hartford, spent Saturday and Sunday with his brother, John Allen, of this place.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Stevens, near Beaver Dam, visited in this community Sunday.

Mr. C. W. Brown has gone to Arkansas where he expects to make his future home.

JOHN M. HARLAN

How he Saved General Basil Duke's Life.

Incident of the Civil War in Which the Latter Came Near Being Captured by Federals.

Gen. Basil Duke, who recently returned from Washington, where he received the appointment as commissioner of the Shiloh Battlefield Park, yesterday told an interesting story of his adventurous career, which has never before appeared in print. It was recalled by Justice John M. Harlan, of the United States Supreme Court, who figures in the story. The incident took place in the fall of 1861. Former Speaker David B. Henderson also figured in the incident and it was never told during the years closely following the war, on account of the part which Justice Harlan played.

Gen. Duke was in Bowling Green, and his wife was in Lexington. He resolved to run the gauntlet of Union troops then in Kentucky and make his way to Lexington. He set out in citizen's clothing with a friend, and had reached the railroad tunnel south of Elizabethtown, when he saw a hand-car approaching, loaded with Union soldiers. His friend wished to stop the car, and, although Gen. Duke protested, the other soldier shouted as the hand-car passed:

"Hello, can't you give us a lift?"

Gen. Duke, who had been wearing his hat close over his eyes, involuntarily looked up and recognized on the car John M. Harlan, who was fighting with the Union troops, George Monroe and George Jouett, all of whom were from the Bluegrass and were close acquaintance and friends of Gen. Duke. The three friend of Gen. Duke, were at that time or subsequently become officers in the Federal army. They also recognized him, and some one shouted:

"There Basil Duke. Stop the car. What he doing here?"

Gen. Duke noticed that the car did not slow down appreciable, and in a moment it disappeared in the tunnel. He made a wide skirt of Elizabethtown, visited his wife, and subsequently returned to the army. He carried with him through the war the mystery of why the hand-car did not stop and effect his arrest. He knew that if it had done so, he would have probably been hanged or at least imprisoned throughout the war.

After the war he learned through Mr. Henderson that Justice Harlan had pressed his foot against the brake lever on the hand-car and in that way frustrated the efforts of the Union soldiers who were with him and desired to capture Gen. Duke. Mr. Harlan tells the story himself with enthusiasm, and in explaining his action says:

"I had known Gen. Duke for years and it was my firm belief that he was simply on the way to see his wife at Lexington. It was not my intention to see him captured, and I accordingly kept the comrades of mine from stopping the car. Subsequent events proved that it was right, as Gen. Duke was not there in the capacity of a spy."

Keeps His Appointments.

"I am an American in most things, all right enough," the tall man was saying, "but there are times when I am not."

"For ins'ance?" suggested the dark man.

"Well, just now," continued the first speaker, "I was over there across the street and met Jackson. You know what a howling Britisher he is. I told him that I was intending to go downtown next Thursday night, and as he seemed to want to see me I suggested that we meet somewhere after dinner."

"All right," he said to me, "I'll meet you at the Northwest Elevated stairs at Wabash avenue and Madison streets at a quarter to 8." Thursday evening," I repeated. "Thursday evening," he said; and there you are. Jackson will be there at fifteen minutes to 8 o'clock about as surely as the sun will come up that day; or if anything comes in the way of his coming I will know it beyond question. Why? Because he is a Britisher and not an American.

"The average American in Chicago makes all his appointments—even his dinner engagements—subject to whatever mental reserve he may choose to make. It is the American habit. When he makes an appointment, he feels in his own heart that it need not hold good if he doesn't feel like keeping it when the time comes. If that were one of your chaps that I had spoken to about meeting me there, and it was rainy, or if I didn't feel like keeping the engagement at the last minute I could stay away, hoping that you wouldn't wait long for me at any rate. And maybe the next day when I met you and started to apologize for not keeping the appointment you'd likely slap your thigh with a start and tell me you had forgotten all about the matter yourself."

"But Jackson doesn't forget—not on your life. And if I don't show up there within a minute or two of the time Thursday evening there won't be much doing in the friendship line between me and Jackson for the next few years. That's the stuff for me, too; but I'll bet 5,000 appointments are American made in Chicago every day and not kept."—Chicago Tribune.

It Never Disappoints.

F. S. Williams proprietor of the Hamilton Drug Co., Hamilton, Iowa, says Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is practically the only remedy he sells for cramps, diarrhoea and colic, for the plain reason that is never disappoints. For sale by all druggists.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

A girl generally has an idea her hair would be nice and fluffy if she lived in a different climate.

A woman likes to trust a man so she can let him do things it wouldn't be right to let him do if she didn't trust him.

Even after she is married a girl goes around from force of habit, expecting the Fairy Prince to come and claim her.

A girl who knows enough to marry a rich man who is old, knows enough to have a long list of young fellows standing in line.

A woman's idea of arguing things is to say that having the window up a little bit will give her as much of a cold as having it all the way up and then pulling it all the way up to prove it.—New York Press.

Fearful Odds Against Him.

Bedridden, alone and destitute. Such, in brief was the condition of an old soldier by name of J. J. Havens, Versailles, O. For four years he was troubled with Kidney disease and neither doctors nor medicine give him relief. At length he tried Electric Bitters. It put him on his feet in short order and now he testifies, "I'm on the road to complete recovery." Best on earth for Liver and Kidney troubles and all forms of Stomach and Bowel Complaints. ## SIGNS A PROCLAMATION

Putting Into Effect the Canal Treaty

President Roosevelt Issues Proclamation.

Washington, Feb. 26.—The proclamation, signed by the President today, putting into effect the Panama Canal treaty, is as follows:

"By the President of the United States of America—A proclamation: Whereas, A convention between the United States of America and the Republic of Panama to insure the construction of a ship canal across the Isthmus of Panama, to connect the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans, was concluded and signed by their respective plenipotentiaries at Washington on the eighteenth of November, one thousand nine hundred and three, the original of which convention, being in the English language.

"And whereas, The said convention has been duly ratified on both parts and the ratifications of the two Governments were exchanged in the city of Washington, on the twenty-sixth day of February, one thousand nine hundred and four:

"Now, therefore, be it known: That I, Theodore Roosevelt, President of the United States of America, have caused the said convention to be made public to the end that the same and every article and clause thereof may be observed and fulfilled with good faith by the United States and the citizens thereof.

"In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

"(Seal)

"Done at the City of Washington, this twenty-sixth day of February, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and four, and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and twenty-eighth.

Hunting Mountain Goats.

From a point nearly 7,000 feet below an observer with a good glass occasionally may make out against the rock shelf a something which looks not unlike a white rabbit sitting upon its haunches. In reality it is an ancient "Billy," roughly speaking, as big as two fine rams and bearded like the prophet. His shaggy white coat knows neither spot nor curl, his dagger-like horns are ebony black, and his topaz eyes have in them that cold, inscrutable expression, something of which we see in the eyes of an eagle and a snake.

They are marvels, these thought-concealing yellow eyes. Perchance they kindle a more baleful light when love's lamp flares, and a snowy-robed rival is stamping and snorting but ten yards away. It may be they soften when a limber-legged kid caroms against the paternal ribs or rams his over-sized head through the paternal whiskers. But these things I doubt, for the topaz itself is not colder or more unchanging than the windows of the soul of a husky mountain Billy.

Because he knows, or thinks he knows, that no enemy will come down upon him, all his precautions are directed against possibilities from below. I fancy, too, that he trusts almost entirely to his eyes, that his nose lacks that wonderful keenness characteristic of the deer tribe, and that his ears play little part in the protective game. This latter is mainly surmise, based upon the fact that the worst noise a still-hunter would be apt to make would be the rattle of a displaced stone, which is a thing the goats often hear and doubtless thoroughly understand.

When one's object of pursuit is an animal which dwells far up the mountains, which keeps a pretty close watch upon all visible lower territory but seldom bothers its head about what may be going on above and behind, one's wisest plan of campaign, naturally, is a flanking movement, followed by an attack from above.—Edwyn Sandys in the Illustrated Sporting News.

Do You Want Strength?

If you want to increase your strength you must add to and not take from the physical. In other words, the food that you eat must be digested, assimilated and appropriated by the nerves, blood and the tissues before being expelled from the intestines. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure adds to the physical. It gives strength to and builds up strength in the human system. It is pleasant to the taste and palatable, and the only combination of digestants that will digest the food and enable the system to appropriate all of its health and strength giving qualities. #### Left the Skin.

"Do you shave yourself very close?"

"Not very. I usually leave enough skin to fasten the court plaster on—but, of course, you don't know that before you began."

Decidedly Eclipsed.

"We can excel you in everything," boasted the American.

"I don't think you can," responded the Englishman.

"How about our get-rich-quick-quick concerns? Have you any to equal them?"

"Sure! How about our noblemen that marry American girls?"

Ruined by a Woman.

"Ruined, and by a woman!" exclaimed the man.

"I fail to see the point," rejoined the other.

"Same hear," said the party of the first part.

"I was speaking of this lead pencil, which my stenographer has evidently been trying to sharpen."

A FAIR WARNING.

Mark Twain's Interview With His Future Father-in-law.

Mrs. Samuel Clemens was Miss Olivia Langdon. For some years before she met Mr. Clemens she had been confined to her bed with what was believed to be an incurable disease, but she was at length miraculously restored to health. The cure was the sensation of Elmira, N. Y., and young Clemens, then a newspaper reporter, was sent there to interview Miss Langdon on her recovery.

He obtained the interview for his newspaper and brought back impressions of more value to himself.

Miss Langdon's parents were at first strongly opposed to the young newspaper man, and, for his part, his timidity, so it is solemnly said, stood in the way of the progress of his suit. But finally he screwed up courage to speak to Mr. Langdon and one morning timidly entered his future father-in-law's private office, where that man was seated at work.

"Mr. Langdon—have you—noticed anything—between—your daughter—and—me?"

"No," shouted the objecting parent, wheeling sharply around so as to get a full view of his visitor.

"Well," said the young man as he turned to the door, ready for instant flight, "if you—keep a—sharp—lookout—you—will!"

A Marvelous Infant.

The most marvelous child of history was surely little Christian Heineken of Lubeck, who died crowned with honor and glorified with fame when he was only a few months over four years old and whose biography will be read centuries hence side by side with those of Shakespeare and Goethe.

When he was but twelve months old Christian had mastered the Pentateuch so thoroughly that he could pass the most searching examination in it. A year later, when other infants were absorbed by bottle and rattle, he had made the whole world of sacred history his own. At three years old he could converse fluently in French and Latin and was familiar with the history and geography of the entire world, ancient as well as modern, while in his fourth year he mastered the study of the world's religious and church history. Thousands flocked to Lubeck to see and test this miraculous child, and he was summoned to the Danish court to receive the homage of the king. But his career was doomed to be as short as it was brilliant, for he died when he was but four years and four months old.

Get on the Earth.

You never heard of a wild animal that had rheumatism until it reached captivity and was kept off the earth. You never heard of a horse that had rheumatism until it was shod with iron and kept off the earth. You never heard of a dog that had rheumatism until it became a household pet and was pampered—kept off the earth. The heathen of Africa and the Pacific Islands never had rheumatism, so far as we know, until they got to wearing sandals or shoes. I once knew a fool man who, whenever he got sick, would dig a trench in his garden, lie down in it and have his wife cover him with fresh earth as far up as his chin. He would remain there for an hour or two, then get up in fine spirits. Mother earth! The contact! It looked like the resurrection—and it was.—New York Press.

The Hare.

In the economy of nature the hare is the one creature that stands between most of the carnivorous animals and starvation. In the northern woods, where snow lies on the ground for more than half the year and where vegetation is of slow growth, the hare serves as a machine for converting birch twigs into muscular, lean meat and providing it in such quantities that hawks, owls, wildcats, weasels and foxes can live in comparative luxury. A pair of hares under favorable conditions produce 70,000 individuals in four years.

Power Stored in Watch Springs.

Many watches make five beats per second, 300 each minute, 18,000 every hour or 432,000 per day. Thus it will be seen that half a dozen turns of the key once a day, taking up but a few seconds of time, store up a modicum of power in the spring which is cut up into nearly 1,000,000 beats. If we multiply the daily beats by 365, the number of days in a year, we find that the watch ticks 157,788,000 times while the earth is making one annual trip around the sun.

Beating Off a Dog.

If a dog springs for a man, the latter should guard his face with his arm and try to meet the animal with his forearm. With the right hand he should attempt to catch one of the animal's front paws. The paw of a bulldog is ultra sensitive. If it can be caught a vigorous squeeze will make the animal howl for mercy and retire discomfited.

Flattered.

"Young man," said her father kindly, "you look a little bit nervous. How do you feel?"

"I feel flattered," replied the girl's lover, who had asked for the interview. "I was afraid I looked scared to death."

Weak Hearts

Are due to indigestion. Ninety-nine of every one hundred people who have heart trouble can remember when it was simple indigestion. It is a scientific fact that all cases of heart disease, not organic, are not only traceable to, but are the direct result of indigestion. All food taken into the stomach which fails of perfect digestion ferments and swells the stomach, puffing it up against the heart. This interferes with the action of the heart, and in the course of time that delicate but vital organ becomes diseased.

Mr. D. Kauble, of Nevada, O., says: "I had stomach trouble and was in a bad state as I had heart trouble with it. I took Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for about four months and it cured me."

Kodol Digests What You Eat

and relieves the stomach of all nervous strain and the heart of all pressure.

Bottles only. $1.00 Size holding 2 1/2 times the trial size, which sells for 50c.

BABY MOOSE GRATEFUL

Licks the Hand That Saves it From Death in the Mire.

Not one hunter in a hundred ever gets a chance to see a tragedy of the wilderness. Not one in ten thousand ever has the opportunity to earn the gratitude of one of denizens. Arthur L. Gillam has had both, and photograph that he has brought home show just what has been his fortune to see and to do.

With R. M. Grant Mr. Gillam recently went to Maine on a hunting trip. The two gentlemen are familiar with the little lake, bog, mountain and stream in the great wilderness between Allegash and the upper Munsungun. They knew the haunts of the big game there and their rifles brought down their share of the spoils of the chase. But one morning Mr. Gillam came across a moose—a baby moose—which could not escape his rifle had it been able. It was mired knee deep in the mud on the border of the little stream which connects Clear lake with the Fifth Munsungun. It was plain to see that the little fellow had taken refuge there to escape one of its enemies—perhaps a bear or a lynx as the natives call the Canadian lynx.

Mr. Gillam had his camera with him. He got as close as he could without miring himself, and before the little fellow grew frightened he was able to get a fine photograph of the baby as he stood in the mire, helpless and forlorn.

When he got back to camp Mr. Gillam told Mr. Grant, and two days later the two hunters sought the spot again to see if the little moose was still there. He was and apparently in more distress than ever.

"The poor little fellow ought to be gotten out," said Mr. Gillam, "just for his pluck."

So they chopped down trees and brush and soon built a firm foundation around the tiny moose and another for themselves. Then with ropes and much pulling and hauling they finally got him on solid ground. The little moose was all gratitude. He licked the hands of his preservers and showed absolutely no fear at their presence though moose are among the most timid animals that inhabit the wilds.

But the long exposure and his many struggles, together with his lack of food, proved too much for even this sturdy little son of the forest. Soon his limbs gave way and he sank to the ground, played out. The hunters worked over the little fellow, but their efforts were useless. He died licking their hands in his mute thankfulness for what they had done for him.

Mr. Gillam was among the luckiest hunters in that region. He got the one moose and the two deer allowed by law. The moose was a splendid bull, with horns that had eighteen points and measured fifty-one inches from tip to tip. Each one of the three was dropped with a single shot from a .303-caliber Savage.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

An Observation.

"They say that large ears are a sign of generosity," remarked the student of human nature.

"I guess that's right," admitted Mr. Grasplit. "At least, they would seem to indicate some sort of assiniety."

The Egotists.

"Some men," said the quoter, "are born great, some achieve greatness."

"And the great majority," interrupted the cynic, "believe they come under both of these heads."

PROFESSIONAL CONFEDERATE

In New Orleans the other day the Superintendent of Public Schools delivered an address to one or more of the schools, and in it he praised Abraham Lincoln, and held him and his career up as a model. For this he has been attacked with farcical bitterness. The lady President of the daughters of the Confederacy, the leading dailies and perhaps others have denounced him and his utterances and he is especially criticised because he went out side of the South to find a model instead of holding up Jefferson Davis, Robert E. Lee or some other Southerner, and especially some Confederate hero. We have nothing to suggest as to the good taste or wisdom or justice of the praise of Abraham Lincoln; we have neither apology, defense, criticism, approval nor disapproval to make of anything said by Mr. Wilson. This would be irrelevant to the point we desire to emphasize. The right of Mr. Wilson to hold and in decorous language express any judgment he pleased concerning Mr. Lincoln or any one else should be unquestioned; and when challenged it becomes the cause of every free man and free woman in the South. To hold otherwise is destructive of true liberty. And this spirit of virulence, of violence, of intolerance; this denunciation of those who dare to hold and express their own views without asking permission must be exercised.

It was intolerable when slavery existed—yet there was an apparent defense—a plausible excuse for this in tolerated and intimidating spirit. It was urged that the danger of negro revolt—the horrors of slave insurrection—made it a crime of the most heinous character for any one to publicly utter doctrine or opinions that attacked the lawfulness or righteousness of that institution. But since the abolition of slavery there is neither justification nor excuse for this spirit of intimidation.

We had it in Kentucky during the campaign of 1896; it was rampant during the campaign of 1899; and while less dangerous it was annoying in 1900. It is too prevalent in the Southern States. Men are ostracized for opinions and attacked for the utterance of their opinions. Abraham Lincoln was of Southern blood as much as Mr. Davis or Gen. Lee; he came from Virginia stock, and was born in Kentucky. It is true he sprang from humble people and was born in poverty and reared in straitened and hard circumstances. He was a product of the border South; he belongs to the category of eminent sons of the border South. He won high position and international fame; he is held in the highest esteem by millions of the civilized people of the world. His life was full of romance, of toil, of sacrifice, of success, and he has left utterances that posterity will not let die. But all this is irrelevant to the real matter at issue. Can a gentleman in public position in the South speak with praise of Abraham Lincoln without running the risk of personal abuse—of violent denunciation ostracism? Is speech in New Orleans free? There has grown up in Kentucky and some of the Southern States a recent spurious so-called Confederate sentiment. There has come into existence and prominence a class of professional Confederates. Soon after the war the professional Grand Army Federal became very clamorous and extremely patriotic. He indulged in virulent abuse of the South; he wanted the parole granted by Grant violated; he breathed lightnings and belittled thunder at the South and her dead and her living. But he had the excuse that he was masquerading as patriot to create a sentiment in favor of enormous pensions. In recent years his Confederate brother and type has come to the front. He finds it impossible to speak well of any one who wore the blue; he is intent on the preparation of partial histories, he appears in full uniform at all reunions, and is as noisy now as he was silent—as fierce now as he was docile—when war was actually in progress and he had a chance to sacrifice himself on the altar of his country.

For the brave, heroic, enduring Confederate soldier we have undying admiration; to him we uncover with grateful remembrance of his services and his sacrifices; we claim him with infinite pride as our comrade and friend, of whatever rank or name or citizenship. To those who "got out of the Confederate Army" with clean records and in honorable mode, honor and praise are due. And these are never intolerant or vociferous, or denunciatory. They feel that they can praise whomever they desire. They honor courage and clemency and skill in whomever found. They have been engaged in building up a common and beloved country; and to them this country is their country and all its glories, its traditions and its heroes are dear. They teach their children that today it is one country, one flag, one destiny. Cannot we of the entire South stand for freedom of speech?—Lexington Herald.

BRIBERY CHARGES

To be Investigated by a Committee of the State Senate.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 29.—A sensation was sprung in the Senate this morning as a result of an article published in the Louisville Herald, in which the Legislature was charged with demanding money from the distillers in Louisville to prevent the passage of laws against the whisky people by purchasing certain members of the Senate.

Senator Farris made a speech in which he said he had always been actuated by honest motives in opposing the liquor traffic and that he desired a stringent investigation into the matter and the discovery of the members who had been trying to sell out.

Senator George then offered a resolution looking to an investigation and providing for a committee empowered to take testimony, summons witnesses and employ a stenographer.

The liquor men in Louisville will be summoned before the committee and they will be asked to give the names of the persons who tried to secure the $3,500 bribe money this week.

President Thorne appointed a committee composed of Senator George, Carroll, Booles, Cantrill and Cox to make the investigation.

At different times intimations of "graft" have been rumored and the bold assertions made in the Louisville Herald created a sensation among the members. The House has not considered any of these measures and the charge of corruption is directed at the Senate.

BLACK - DRAUGHT STOCK and POULTRY MEDICINE

Stock and poultry have few troubles which are not bowel and liver irregularities. Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine is a bowel and liver remedy for stock. It puts the organs of digestion in a perfect condition. Prominent American breeders and farmers keep their herds and flocks healthy by giving them an occasional dose of Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine in their food. Any stock raiser may buy a 25-cent half-pound air-tight can of this medicine from his dealer and keep his stock in vigorous health for weeks. Dealers generally keep Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine. If yours does not, send 25 cents for a sample can to the manufacturers, The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

ROCHELLE, GA., Jan. 30, 1902.
Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine is the best I ever tried. Our stock was looking bad when you sent me the medicine and now they are getting so fine. They are looking 50 per cent. better.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

FOR JAILER.

We are authorized to announce JAMES I. MORTON as a candidate for the office of Jailer of Ohio county, subject to the action of the Republican party.

THE weather man has again dealt us a cold wave.

MR. BRYAN is still suffering from that bite of the germ of Groverism Clevelandodenski.

THE Japs, in attempting to unbotle the Russians, should use the latest improved cork-screw.

THE Waltz that is figuring in the Legislature blackmailing affair, seems to know a new step or two.

UNDER ordinary circumstances, $3,500.00 would not buy any great amount of favors from representative men.

It is to be observed that March came in like a lamb and the more he keeps it up the better will be his welcome.

THE Reed Smoot case will soon come up in the Senate again, then the various and sundry Mesdames Smoot will be requested to walk up and register.

PEOPLE are wont to call President Armour the father of the Panama Republic. It should not be forgotten that President Roosevelt was the first to trot the young thing on his knee.

It has been as impossible for a Republican member of the General Assembly to have one of his bills enacted into law, when the measure contained anything important, as it is for a camel to walk through the eye of a needle.

It is becoming evident that Russia was about as unprepared for war with Japan as Napoleon was with Prussia when he marched to the border with drums beating, flags flying and horns tootin' of the glories of France to meet with Bismark.

THE sincerity and solemnity with which the bribery charges are being investigated by the Senate and House Committees, is perfectly apparent from the fact that the public is not allowed to know the proceedings. They are sitting behind closed doors.

The bill, making Hartford a city of the fifth-class, has passed both Houses of the General Assembly and is up to the Governor for his signature. It is to Hon. A. S. Bennett, whom Hartford citizens are indebted, for the successful passage of the bill. He introduced and looked after the measure until its passage was secured.

No time was lost in appointing a committee to investigate the charge that members of the Legislature have been attempting to bleed or blackmail the whisky and tobacco men of the State. In this promptness of action the Legislature should be commended. But when you view the personnel of the committee and note that its six members are each a Democrat, you may be sure that no Democratic member will be molested. If there be any sincerity in the investigation and any determination to fix the guilt or to prove the merits or demerits of the charge, it looks like that one Republican, at least, might have been appointed on the committee. We are slow to believe that any of the peoples' representatives would, in anywise, be influenced by or for a monetary consideration, but the reporter certainly thought he had a foundation for his charges.

Colds Cause Pneumonia.

One of the most remarkable cases of colds deep-seated on the lungs, causing pneumonia, is that of Mrs. Gertrude E. Feneer, Marion, Ind., who was entirely cured by the use of One Minute Cough Cure. She says: "The coughing and straining so weakened me that I ran down in weight from 148 to 92 pounds. I tried a number of remedies to no avail until I used One Minute Cough Cure. Four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me entirely of the cough, strengthened my lungs and restored me to my normal weight, health and strength." Sold by Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro.

DAY BILL PASSED.

Measure Repealing the State Tax on the Manufactured Weed Only Needs Governor's Signature.

Frankfort, Ky., March 2.—The Senate today passed Representative Charles E. Day's bill repealing the tax on manufactured tobacco. It was asserted in the discussion that this tax has netted the State only about $6,500 during the past two years, and that it tends to hinder tobacco manufacturing interests in Kentucky. Senator Richardson opposed the bill because it was the source of some revenue to the State, but it passed by a vote of 28 to 2. It now lacks only the Governor's signature to make it a law.

A bill of exactly similar import to Mr. Day's was introduced in the Senate early in the session and was passed, but died in the House.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury.

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. ## E. P. BARNES & BRO.,

The Leading Retailers of the Green River Country.

Our semi-annual inventory of February 10th closed another business year, and it is with pride that we announce to the public that we have distributed more merchandise than during any previous year of our existence, and to our liberal patrons we are profoundly grateful, and as we believe there is no other concern that offers the same advantages all around as we do, we unhesitatingly ask a continuance of your liberal patronage, with the positive assurance that your interests will be closely guarded and that your smallest child shall receive the same close prices and the same courteous treatment as yourself. To those who haven't been trading with us, we ask you to give us a trial. Acquaint yourself with our business methods—One Close Price to all—and look closely through our entire stock of everything you need and we believe your decision will be the same as hundreds of others, that "Barnes" is the best place to buy your goods."

Spring Arrivals.

We have received many things already for Spring, and others are arriving almost daily. We have on sale our entire line of Spring Percales at 6c, 10c and 12½c; Gingham, 6c, 8c, 10c and 15c; Spring Calico, 5c and 6c. Our entire line of Embroideries and Insertings at from 2c to 50c per yard. You will be surprised at the values we are offering as well as the endless varieties we are showing. Bleached Cottons, 5c to 10c; Lonsdale Cambrics, 10c to 12½c; Sheetings, ten-quarter bleached and unbleached, 16½ to 25c; yard-wide Sheetings, 5½c, 6c and 7c; Shirting Cottons, 5c to 10c, and Ticking, 10c, 15c, 18c and 20c per yard. You will observe by looking over the above list that, notwithstanding the enormous advance in Cotton, the fewest number of the lines mentioned has been advanced in price. We have bought big stocks of these goods and you can rest assured that these prices will prevail as long as there is a piece in our stock bought at the old prices.

Spring Arrivals.

We have now ready for your inspection our Early Spring Arrivals in Embroideries, Laces, Percals, Gingham and Prints. We shall be glad to send you samples or have you come in person to see them. While Cotton is soaring high, we have only made a slight advance and on many lines of Cotton Goods none at all.

Embroideries.

One thousand yards of Embroideries, running from 1 to 2 1/2 inches; pretty patterns at last year's price, 5c per yard. Two thousand yards running in widths from 3 to 8 inches, worth to-day from 15c to 35c per yard; our price on entire lot, 10c and 20c. Beautiful Val. Laces and Allovers from 2c to $1.25 per yard.

Spring Percals.

These goods are sure to have the ascendancy for early Spring Waists. We have a beautiful line to select from at the old prices—10c and 12 1/2c per yard.

Spring Gingham.

These are staples at all times for Men's Shirts, Ladies' Waists and Children's Garments. They come in checks and stripes, all the new shades for Spring. Old price, 10c.

Remember

We are closing out at cost any of our Winter Overcoats, Suits, Underwear, Men's and Boy's Boots, Ladies' and Children's Heavy Shoes. If you need any of these Goods, come and see them. They are cheap.

ECHO OF JETT-WHITE.

King's Wife Fainted, but Jury Soon Returned Acquittal of Her Husband.

Cynthiana, Ky., March 1.—Juror King, who served in the trial of Jett and White, who were convicted of the murder of J. B. Marcum, was freed to-day by a verdict of not guilty.

The charge against King was perjury in answer to questions when examined as a juror in the Jett and White trial.

A few moments after the jury went out to decide the case Mrs. King fainted in the court room and for a time was thought to be in a serious condition.

On Thursday King will answer the rule to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt in talking to jurors after the case was submitted.

Our Court House.

The Court House improvements are nearing completion. The new and modern windows, the entrance vestibule, the new jury box and many other valuable and substantial improvements add greatly to the looks and beauty of Ohio county's Temple of Justice.

HANNA'S LAST LETTER.

Was a Brief But Pathetic one to President Roosevelt.

Senator Hanna's last written words were in the form of pathetic letter to President Roosevelt, in which he acknowledged, in a way quite characteristic, the President's thoughtfulness in calling at his hotel to inquire about the Senator's condition.

The letter was written by the Senator on the afternoon of Friday, February 5, and was the last business of any kind transacted by him. After Senator Hanna's death President Roosevelt sent the letter to Mrs. Hanna, in order that copies of it might be made by the family for preservation. The original will be returned to President Roosevelt, who will treasure it carefully in memory of his dead friend.

While the Senator was quite ill but before a serious turn set in he was informed that the President had called to inquire about his condition he said:

"Wasn't that nice of him?" whispered, Senator Hanna. "Wasn't that good?"

Later the Senate again expressed his deep appreciation of the President's courtesy, and a little while afterward called for pencil and paper and wrote the following:

"My Dear Mr. President—You touched the tender spot, old man, when you call personally to inquire after me this a. m. I may be worse before I can be better, but all the same such 'drops' of kindness are good for a fellow. Sincerely yours,
M. A. HANNA.

"Friday p. m."

The next day a reply was received from the President, with a note stating that it was to be shown to the Senator when Mrs. Hanna thought best. Senator Hanna never saw the reply, which was as follows:

"February 6, 1904.

"Dear Senator—Indeed, it is your letter from your sickbed which is touching—Not my visit. May you very soon be with us again, old fellow as strong in body and as vigorous in leadership and yours friendship as ever. Faithfully yours, THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

Inflammatory Rheumatism Cured.

William Shaffer, a breakman of Deunison, Ohio, was confined to his bed for several weeks with inflammatory rheumatism. "I used many remedies," he says. "Finally I sent to McCaw's drug store for a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, at which time I was unable to use hand or foot and in one week's time was able to go to work as happy as a calf." For sale by all druggists.

Good Manners.

In spite of all the complaints about the decay of good manners, says a fashionable woman, they remain the standard by which your fitness for society will be judged.

Of course, if you are a millionaire your manners are immaterial.

The vast majority of people, however, not belonging to that licensed

The recent marriage of a couple of cripples, each having only half the proper complement of arms and legs, was noted by the press as a 'curiousity.' But who notes the marriages which occur daily in which both parties are cripples in health.

Crippled health means, as a rule, insufficient nutrition, and lack of nutrition points to disease of the stomach and digestive tract. Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enables the perfect nourishment of the body, and so builds it up in sound health and strength.

"I had been a great sufferer from indigestion for the last nine years," writes Mrs. Margaret Single, of Orangeville, Baltimore Co., Md. "I was such a wreck it seemed death was near, but to-day can say I feel like another woman. I have received much and lasting good from Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Favorite Prescription.' I have taken twenty-five bottles in all, and followed the advice of Dr. R. V. Pierce, and am happy to say that my life is worth living now. A thousand thanks for your treatment."

Do not be cajoled into trading a substance for a shadow. Any substitute offered as "just as good" as "Golden Medical Discovery" is a shadow of that medicine. There are cures behind every claim made for the "Discovery."

class, stand or fall, more or less, by their manners, and far from these being in decadence, there never was a times when they were of so much importance.

We are less ceremonious than our parents or grandparents, but we are not less polite.

No generation in particular can be accused of having a monopoly of bad manners.

There have always been selfish people, and bad manners are only the outward and visible sign of an inward and abiding selfishness.

The secret of good manners lies in sympathy and interest in others, and the importance of cultivating these qualities, if they are not inherent, can not be exaggerated.

Life is too short for us to judge, in the majority of cases, by anything but outward appearances.

We have not time to search for the benevolent intentions so carefully concealed behind the uncompromising manner of all the outwardly horrid people in the universe.

A Favorite Remedy for Babies.

Its pleasant taste and prompt cures have made Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a favorite with the mothers of small children. It quickly cures their coughs and colds prevents any dangers of pneumonia or other serious consequences. It not only cures croup, but when given as soon as the croupy cough appears will prevent the attack. For sale by all druggists.

A Bargain for Farmers.

The New York Tribune Farmer, a national illustrated agricultural weekly of twenty large pages, has no superior as a thoroughly practical and helpful publication for the farmer and every member of his family, and the publishers are determined to give it a circulation unequalled by any paper of its class in the United States.

Knowing that every enterprising, up-to-date farmer always reads his own local weekly newspaper, The New York Tribune Farmer has made an exceedingly liberal arrangement which enables us to offer the two papers at so low a price that no farmer can afford to lose the opportunity.

The price of The New York Tribune Farmer is $1.00 a year and THE HARTFORD REPUBLICAN is $1.00 a year, but both papers will be sent for a full year if you forward $1.25 to THE REPUBLICAN, Hartford, Ky.

Send your name and address to The New York Tribune Farmer, New York City, and a specimen copy of that paper will be mailed to you.

The Cook Island announces the lowest rates ever made to Indian Territory, Oklahoma and Texas for February 16, March 1 and 15. ## ONE ARMED MAN'S SKILL.

How He Managed to Button His Cuff to His Shirt Sleeve.

"When and how did you lose your left arm?"

"Five years ago. I was working in a factory and got my arm caught in some belting."

"Has your right arm become more serviceable since you lost its mate?"

"Oh, yes. I can do almost anything with my one arm. I used to have a great deal of trouble in dressing myself, but it comes easy now. I can tie my shoes, put on a four-in-hand tie, put collar buttons in a new shirt; in fact, do everything required just as well as I could when I had two hands."

"It certainly is wonderful what one can do if he only has to."

"Yes; it is. There's only one thing, however, that I really pride myself on being able to do with my one hand, and that is to fasten my cuff. How do you suppose I do this?"

"I hadn't thought of this. For the life of me I don't see how you do it. Do you fasten your cuff with your teeth?"

"No." And the one armed fellow smiled.

"Have you some contrivance of your own that you use?"

"No." "Well, I don't see how you do it. It's beyond me."

"Why, I put the cuff on the shirt before putting on the shirt."

—And he smiled more broadly than ever.—Indianapolis News.

Freaks of a Genius.

One day a bulky, tall, pale faced gentleman with bushy, restless eyebrows, entered a London tavern. The waiter did not ask him for his order, but immediately brought him a plate of bread and cheese and a glass of ale. Having consumed his lunch, the guest sat upright in his chair for awhile, leaning his hands on a heavy walking cane and staring blankly at the opposite wall, as if in a dream. Of a sudden he gave a start. He seized the empty glass and dashed it to the floor with all his might, smashing it to atoms. He then reflected for a moment, laid a coin on the table, got up and left the inn without a word to any one. After his departure another guest had the curiosity to ask the waiter whether the gentleman who had just gone out was not wrong in his head. Quoth the waiter:

"Oh, no, sir! That's nothink unusual with 'im, sir. 'E's broke maybe a 'undred glasses since 'e's been a comin' to this 'ouse. 'E don't seem to know it when 'e does it. 'E just gets a thinkin' and seems to git hungry at somethink 'e's thinkin' about. It's Lord Macaulay, sir."—Collier's Weekly.

Stimulated His Imagination.

The mother of the three boys had noticed that when they slept in the same room they were a long time going to sleep. A little investigation brought out the reason.

"John," she said, "what kept you boys awake so long last night?"

"Bob was telling us stories," he replied.

"But I heard him saying: 'Boys, I wish you wouldn't bother me. I want to go to sleep.'"

"Yes," admitted John. "When he'd told us one story we'd get out of bed and run round the room awhile. Then we would crawl in again and put our cold feet against his back, and keep them there till he told us another."

Years afterward "Bob" became a famous lecturer and story teller, and that, possibly, is the way he got his start.

A Titled Kleptomaniac.

A titled kleptomaniac of three quarters of a century ago was the Countess of Cork. She had a reputation for stealing anything she could lay her hands on, whether it was useful or valuable or not. Once, when leaving a country house where she had been staying, she saw and quietly picked up a hedgehog that was crossing a hall, a pet of the porters, and took it away in her carriage. Finding it an uncomfortable foot warmer she decided to dispose of it at the first town where she changed horses and then offered it to a confectioner in return for a sponge cake.

We don't know what it means to "bow to the inevitable," unless it means to take off one's hat to one's wife.—Atchison Globe.

Another One.

"You say some very sharp things," he remarked.

"You give me some splendid opportunities," she replied.—Chicago Post.

Dutch Patchwork.

Holland is certainly the land of artistic patches. Take, for instance, our very worthy captain, a thrifty man and prosperous, with a neat sum tucked away. Yet see his shirt, patched and repatched and patched again in varying shades of brown and red until it has been completely metamorphosed! As to the original color, no man knoweth, but here is a wonderful mosaic of soft tones, put together with infinite skill and patience. It is, moreover, still in a state of evolution, for the process may go on indefinitely. I take it that the purchase of a new shirt is a solemn rite and not to be entered upon with indecent haste or thoughtlessness. Here is a prospective heirloom, and one's children's children may gaze with pride upon it. And yet Barney O'Toole, whose specialty is mortar and who possesses nothing save a numerous progeny and a very doubtful insurance policy, would flee in terror at the thought of wearing it.—Edward Penfield in Scribner's.

DAMAGE SUIT

For $100,000 Filed by Mrs. Marcum for the Death of Her Husband.

Winchester, Ky., Mar. 2.—The largest damage suit ever brought in the Circuit Court of this county was filed here Saturday. It is for $100,000 damages, and was brought by Mrs. Abrel A. Marcum, for herself and Nellie, Tom, Imogene, Alfred, James B. and William Hurst Marcum, they being the widow and infant children of James B. Marcum, for whose murder at Jackson last May, Curtis Jett and Thomas White were convicted. The defendants are former Senator Alex Hargis, Judge James Hargis and Sheriff Ed Callahan, of Breathitt county, and B. Fulton French, of this city. The petition alleges that the defendants conspired with Jett and White to murder Marcum, and that the deed was done at their instigation; that Callahan and James Hargis were present at the time of the killing, and that the others aided, abetted and encouraged Jett and White.

The attorneys for Mrs. Marcum are Byrd & Joutet, of this city, the senior member of the firm being A. F. Byrd, who prosecuted Jett and White.

Proverbs

"When the butter won't come put a penny in the churn," is an old time dairy proverb. It often seems to work though no one has ever told why.

When mothers are worried because the children do not gain strength and flesh we say give them Scott's Emulsion.

It is like the penny in the milk because it works and because there is something astonishing about it.

Scott's Emulsion is simply a milk of pure cod liver oil with some hypophosphites especially prepared for delicate stomachs.

Children take to it naturally because they like the taste and the remedy takes just as naturally to the children because it is so perfectly adapted to their wants.

For all weak and pale and thin children Scott's Emulsion is the most satisfactory treatment.

We will send you the penny, i. e., a sample free.

Be sure that this picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

JUDGED BY HER BOOK.

The Way Girls in the Big Department Stores Are Watched.

The girls in a large department store, says Frank Leslie's, are, as a rule, carefully watched not only in the store, but out of it. The buyer of each department knows pretty well the habits of his sales ladies; knows how much it costs them to live and how they spend their evenings. It is easy for him to get the information not merely through the store detective, but in many other ways.

The buyer is, as a rule, a tolerant person, who cares only for two things—namely, that the girls "deliver the goods"—i. e., that they make big "books"—and that they appear respectable. If they stay out so late at night that they do not reach the store promptly in the morning they may be discharged, transferred from one department to another or merely not rise in the way of salary, depending on the degree of their misdemeanor. If the girl's book is unsatisfactory she is simply discharged or transferred, and no reason is given, but if she is wise she knows the reason why.

If, on the other hand, the girl is a good seller the buyer will excuse a great deal in the way of irregularity of habits. As long as a girl sticks closely to business she is allowed a great deal of freedom, but when her "book" begins to suffer it is time for her to "look out."

A Lawyer's Bill.

Here is the story of an Ohio lawyer who did not become a politician, as he was not built on political lines. It is told by a Washington man, who was his clerk at one time. Lawyer B. was a gruff sort of personage and believed in making every one pay for every service. One of his clients was the president of a bank, who, during the pendency of his case, dropped into the lawyer's office very frequently and told stories. The lawyer was a good listener, and seemed to enjoy the stories very much, but after the banker went out Lawyer B. would say: "Here, charge Mr. — $10 for an hour of my time. If I have got to listen to his stories he has got to pay me for it." Finally, the bill was made out and carried to the banker. It was an itemized account, stating the date of each call. He scanned it closely and remarked:

"He has made me pay for it pretty well, hasn't he?"
"Pay for what?" asked the clerk.
"For listening to my stories."
And then he paid the bill.—Washington Post.

The Norwegian Costume.

It is at church in Norway that the national costume is best seen. In the north the women wear short, dark gowns, with fringed handkerchiefs tied becomingly over their curly fair hair, black ones for the matrons and white ones for maidens.

In the south the old Norwegian dress is often worn. It consists of a short dark petticoat, with a stripe of bright colors, a full white blouse, and a red bodice heavily embroidered, while on Sundays a quantity of silver pins and chains are added.

The head-dress varies according to the occasion and the wearer's social condition. The girls wear jaunty red caps, the married women a coil made of many folds of starched white linen, plaited over a wooden frame, and a bride wears a high metal crown, curiously chased and set with jewels.

A QUESTION OF BATHS.

How an Army Officer Evened Up Matters With an Auditor.

"Auditors and controllers are the natural enemies of mankind," remarked an army officer, "but more particularly are they the enemies of an army officer. They take great delight in finding reasons why they should not pass an officer's accounts and take advantage of the least little technicality or any possible way of refusing to do so. Some time ago an officer to get a just claim that had been turned down by the auditor or comptroller was compelled to go to congress, and the printing bill for the account was four times as large as the amount in the first instance."

General Weston got the best of an auditor when he was in the Seventh cavalry, and this is the way he tells the story:

"I was on a horse board at Kansas City, and before a horse could be accepted he was sent a mile at a very fast clip to test his endurance. I observed that the men who were selling the horses had a rider who would take them behind a clump of trees where I could not see and shortened the distance. I decided to ride the horses myself, and I tried about twenty a day. I would get pretty well warmed up with that kind of work, and I went in afterward and took a bath. I charged up the bath each day in my expenses. But the account came back from the auditor with the indorsement:

"One bath a day is a luxury and not a necessity. One bath a week is enough."

"And I indorsed right under that, 'It may be enough for an auditor, but not for a cavalryman.'"—Washington Post.

The First Diamond at Kimberley.
It was not until the autumn of 1870 that the first diamond was found on the present site of Kimberley. There was a shallow, circular depression, known as Dutoitspan, on the edge of which a farmer named Van Wyk lived in a cabin plastered with mud. This hut had no architectural pretensions, but, in its way, it went beyond the luxury of Fifth avenue, for the mud with which it was daubed was sprinkled with diamonds. One day Van Wyk's children prospected the plastering or their home and extracted several gems. The farmer and his friends began digging at the spot from which the mud had been taken, and found more diamonds.

Miners swarmed in, and a new camp, called Dorsfontein, sprang up. In June of the next year the Kimberley mine proper—one of the four great deposits that form the present Kimberley group—yielded its first diamond.—Cosmopolitan.

When Reptiles Inhabited the Earth.

At different epochs during the time known as the secondary period the surface of the earth seems to have been so predominantly peopled with reptile life that it has been called "the age of reptiles." The huge iguanodons stalked or leaped about in the wastes of Sussex and Hampshire. Of these iguanodons marvelously complete skeletons are to be seen (mounted in attitudes of life) in the Royal museum of Brussels—a sight in itself sufficient to induce a visit to that capital. Other smaller reptiles browsed on the foliage of the then existing plants and were pursued and preyed upon by fell reptilian monsters of various kinds. The sea also swarmed with reptiles (ichthyosaurs) as aquatic as the whales and dolphins of our own day. And not only were the earth and seas thus peopled, but there were flying reptiles of different kinds and sizes, known as pterodactyls.

Blunderbuss.

In using the word "blunderbuss" we unconsciously imply a sense of disparagement for the shooting powers of our forefathers contracted with the precision of the modern rifle. The word itself has, however, a terrible enough meaning and disdains all connection with "blunder." "Blunderbuss," in fact, as we have it, is a strange corruption—perhaps not altogether untinted with the sense and sound of "blunder"—of the old Dutch word "donderbuss," which can be literally translated into the English "thunder box" or "thunder barrel."

The Age of the Harp.

The harp, which was suggested by the lute, is ascribed to Jubal, 3875 B. C., and was King David's favorite instrument. The harp was used by the Welsh and Saxons, and also by the ancient peoples of Ireland. One of the oldest harps in existence is in the Dublin College museum, and originally belonged to Brian Borohme, king of Ireland.

What Meerschaum Really Is.

There is a very general impression in the minds of smokers that the meerschaum part of the pipe, which they treasure so carefully and take so much pride and satisfaction in "coloring," is compressed sea foam. Such, however, is not the case. The German word meerschaum means in English foam of the sea, but its formation has nothing to do with the sea. It is a kind of clay, comes out of mines like coal and is found only in Turkey.

A Highland Stole.

The following little dialogue was overheard in a far north hamlet:
"Mac, I hear ye have fallen in love wi' bonnie Katie Stevens."
"Weel, Sandy, I was near-verra near-daein' it, but I found the lassie had nae siller, so I said to myself, 'Mac, be a man.' And I was a man, and noo I pass her by wi' silent contempt."—London Telegraph.

WIFE BEATING

Woman who Suffers it Should be Looked After.

A man has been sentenced to five years in prison and $1,000 fine for having beaten his wife upon twenty occasions. That is, he had previously been arrested twenty times.

One has little sympathy, for the wife who was near enough to be beaten even the third time.

A woman with such utter lack of self-respect that she could remain with a man and take a score of whipping ought to be sent to the asylum for an imbecile at the same time her husband is sent to prison.

When we read of such an occurrence we cannot feel enthusiastically in accord with the highly moral dames who have passed a law ostracizing every divorced woman.

"To never recognize any divorce" was one of the mandates suggested by the founders of the new and much-needed anti-divorce society of New York City.

The effect of this organization must be beneficial and wholesome. Yet the extreme position of "refusing to recognize any divorced woman" is not wisely taken.

This is returning to the old rigid theories of a departed era, an era when a wife was supposed to belong to her husband, soul and body, and when to sever from him, for any cause, meant death in the eyes of the community.

It is altogether probable that the wife whose husband went to prison for his twentieth assault upon her person was reared in this ancient idea of what constituted wifely submission.

No more immoral situation seems possible than the continued marital association of a man and a woman between whom blows and abusive words are even occasionally exchanged; and when such conduct is a daily affair, the relation is one which disgraces all humanity, and renders the marriage tie as indecent as immoral.

The wife who makes no attempt to divorce such a husband lowers the standard of womanhood. Therefore, the well-meaning dames who have organized the Anti-Divorce Society must make an endeavor to be just, while being strictly moral.

They must not formulate rigid rules of social ostracism which will protect brutal husbands and frighten wronged wives from any attempt to escape from that earthly purgatory—an unhappy and uncongenial marriage.

An effort is needed to arrest the tidal wave of divorce before it sweeps away the very bulwarks of society. Yet to render divorce, no matter what causes there may be calling for it, a crime and disgrace, is to substitute one evil condition for another.

The divorced wife of a brutal and vicious man is a more respectable position to hold in the world than his legal wife and associate of a husband who inspires only hatred and disgust. This is the most disreputable of all situations for a self-respecting woman.—By Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

Cures Sciatic Rheumatism.

Mrs. A. E. Simpson, 509 Crag St., Knoxville, Tenn., writes, June 10th, 1899: "I have been trying the baths of Hot Springs, Ark., for sciatic rheumatism, but I get more relief from Bullard's Snow Liniment than any medicine or anything I have ever tried. Enclosed find postoffice order for $1.00. Send me a large bottle by Southern Express." Sold by J. H. Williams, druggist.

Undoubtedly True.

"The good die young, you know," remarked the man with the quotation habit.

"Naturally," rejoined the matter-of-fact persons. "That's the only time people are good."

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood. If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work. Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries. It is used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail. Home of Swamp-Root, free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN Hair Renewer

Makes the hair grow long and heavy, and keeps it soft and glossy. Stops falling hair and cures dandruff. And it always restores color to gray hair. Sold for fifty years.

FACTORY RUN BY WIND.

Air Motors Supply Power to Two Plants in Germany for Generating Electricity for Lighting.

For more than two years two small factories, one near Leipzig, the other near Hamburg, have been driven successfully by windmills, which are also used as a means of generating electricity for lighting purposes.

The windmills have a diameter of about 15 feet and are mounted on the roof of the works.

To insure reliability, the wind wheel itself has no moving parts, the speed regulation being obtained by turning the windmill so as to vary the angle under which the wind impinges upon the sails which are built of steel sheets.

This is performed by small auxiliary wind motor, and is said to be done so quickly and accurately that the voltage of the dynamo remains practically constant throughout the range of ordinary wind pressures.

An automatic switch cuts out the battery connected in parallel with the dynamo as soon as the wind falls below a certain point.

Happy, Healthy Children.

Any child can take Little Early Risers with perfect safety. They are harmless, never gripe or sicken, and yet they are so certain in results that robust constitutions requiring drastic means are never disappointed. They cannot fail to perform their mission and every one who uses DeWitt's Little Early Risers prefer them to all other pills. They cure biliousness. Sold by Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro.

Was Not in Him.

"Johnny," said a fond German-town mother to young hopeful the other day, after she had returned home from calling on a neighbor, "some one has taken a big piece of frosted cake of the pantry."
Johnny blushed guilty.
"Oh Johnny!" she exclaimed. "I didn't think it was in you!"
"It ain't all," whined the boy. "Part of it is in sister Nellie."

POOR CHANCE

For Republicans to do anything in President Legislature.

Hon. G. T. Hawkins, of Pike county, a Republican and one of the brightest members of the Legislature in a recent interview gave the following as his experience and observation in law-making in a Democratic Legislature.

Being asked if he had any new bills to introduce he said:

"Yes, but I will not introduce them myself. You see, these Democrats have all the power on and under the earth. And they say they are not going to allow any Republican to get a bill through. So I have concluded to get some Democrat to offer my bills."

"Do you expect to get any of your bills enacted into laws?"

"I may succeed in getting three or four through. But I very much doubt whether anything good can come out of this modern Nazareth, the General Assembly of Kentucky."

"How do you like law-making?"

"Well, in a Democratic Legislature I like picking blackberries bare footed best. You see, there is only thirty Republicans in both Houses and the Democrats seated on the back seats next to the wall, so that the Speaker could not hear us when we yell out, 'Mr. Speaker!' But we don't mind that, you know, for the Democrats see where they missed it by not giving us seats in the lobby. So to keep us feeling good all the time they have our cuspidors cleaned out once a month. If that fails to have its desired effect, they will have our bills printed after the Legislature adjourns. You know that makes as Republicans feel good and warm under the collar and to have bumble bees in our jacket 'ain't no feelin' a'tall to this.' I tell you its good to be here in the General Assembly; it tries a fellows patience. You've heard of Job, haven't you—that fellow that had such a bad case of itch? If he was tormented by these Democrats just one day he would turn out to pure hard 'cussin'." Job gained his reputation by being a patient man, when he got his newspaper and all his other mail brought by his page to the breakfast table, but what if he had been a Republican legislator and received his mail as often as once a week, I tell you he would have prayed for the Creator to receive him up yonder that he might be delivered from this untoward generation of vipers. Why, just think of Job, that good man of old going away back and sitting down on a Republican seat in the Kentucky Legislature, receiving his mail once a week, having his cuspidor clean twice during his term, getting his bill printed whenever the Democratic conscience moved its possessor to a sense of sworn duty.

"Just think how good Job would feel when a question came up that if passed would prove a detriment to his constituency in the land of Ur after listening at a half dozen Democrats tell how it would benefit the party to make Redwine Chief Justice and Hargis Associate Justice over all the Land of Ur, then let Job get up and say, 'Mr. Speaker,' when some Democrat would move the previous question. And then the speaker would pound on his desk with his gavel and say 'the gentleman from Ur is out of order.' And to imagine Job's feelings if the Lord and the Republican party were to so bless the country that the treasury would have money in it after Calhoun had got his 'little fee' and that the little reward was gone the witnesses paid for swearing, etc. And then along would come the salary-raiser, the job hunter the commission grafter the ward boodler, and redistrictor, the pie hunter, and a multitude of other salary grabbers and treasury burglars too numerous to mention. I just say imagine how Job would feel when each of these blessed beggars got through telling of all the good and perfect gifts that would befall the great common people if their jobs get through the constitutional Legislature."

"Now talk about your ripper bills, and re-ripper bills and rip the 'nigger' out of his vote with your barlow bill, and the peoples money out of the treasury with your fee salary appropriation bills and do away with the constitution till they give the people their fill. At these kinds of bills Job would have shook his head and voted 'nay.'"

"Now, do you think it's fun to be in a Democratic Legislature? I think I shall go back to the mountains of Eastern Kentucky where its so far from hell that the snow stays all through the summer. And where we don't have to die to go to heaven, but just climb to the summit of Cumberland and the land of the blessed where the streams of clear living water flow."

A lurid tale is "The Strong and the Weak," by Allison M. Lederer, in the March number of Lippincott's Magazine. It is a love-passag between a bride of an hour and another fellow, and the gallant bridegroom wins.

What is Life?
In the last analysis nobody knows, but we do know that it is under strict law. Abuse that law even slightly, pain results. Irregular living means derangement of the oranges, resulting in Constipation, Headache or Liver trouble. Dr. Kings New Life Pills quickly re-adjusts this. It's gentle, yet thorough. Only 25c at Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro. m

Paul Larence Dunbar rarely writes fiction now-a-days, so that "The Vindication of Jared Hargot," in Lippincott's for March, is something of a surprise. It is a humorous tale of village life, not lacking pathos.

Children's Coughs and Colds.
Mrs. Joe McGrath, 327 E. 1st St., Hutchinson, Kan., writes: "I have given Ballard's Horehound Syrup to my children for coughs and cold for the past four years, and find it the best medicine I ever used." Unlike many cough syrups, it contains no opium, but will soothe and heal any disease of the throat or lungs quicker than any other remedy. 25c. 50c and $1.00 at J. H. Williams, druggists. m

Health For a Quarter!
People who have torpid liver find life a misery. All they need is a mild remedy like

RAMON'S LIVER PILLS

AND TONIC PELLETS. The Pill stimulates the liver to its proper work and the Pellets invigorate the system. In short, they both assist Nature, as a medicine should do.

Proper Treatment for Pneumonia.

Pneumonia is a too dangerous a disease for anyone to attempt to doctor himself, although he may have the proper remedies at hand. A physician should always be called. It should be born in mind, however that pneumonia always results from a cold or from attack of the grip and by the proper treatment of these diseases a threatened attack of pneumonia may be warded off. There is no question whatever about this, as during the thirty years and more that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been used, we have yet to learn of a single case of a cold or attack of the grip having resulted in pneumonia when this remedy was used. It is also used by physicians in the treatment of pneumonia with the best results. Dr. W. J. Smith, of Sanders, Ala., who is also a druggist, says of it: "I have been selling Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and prescribing it in my practice for the past six years. I use it in cases of pneumonia and have always gotten the best results." Sold by all druggists. m

Gov. Beckham has issued a call for a meeting of the State School Book Commission at Frankfort this afternoon for the purpose of organizing and putting the new law into effect.

Your Heart.

When Your Heart Fails to Pump Your Blood, Trouble Results.

Have you heart trouble? You have, if you find it hard to breathe after walking up stairs, exercising, etc. If you have pain in your left side, in chest, back or shoulder. If you suffer from cold extremities, pale face, blue lips, dry cough, swollen ankles.

If you have fainting spells, breast pang, palpitation, redness of the face, discomfort in sleeping on one side.

The only scientific treatment for this whole train of troubles is Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is the prescription of a famous specialist, whose great success in treating obstinate nervous heart disease has made his name pre-eminent in the medical and scientific world.

The medicine will cure you. We know it. We want you to prove it. If first bottle does not benefit, your druggist will give you back your money.

"I have for several years suffered at times with heart trouble. I got so bad I could not sleep half the night, and had to sit up on the side of the bed lots of times to get breath. Three of my brothers have died of heart trouble, and I thought I was going the same way, but about two and a half years ago I got a pamphlet about Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and thought I would try a few bottles. After using them I recovered, and have had better health since then than before for several years. I can heartily recommend them for heart trouble."—REV. JERRY HURT, Pastor Baptist Church, Hurt, Kans.

Fine Stock.

To the Citizens of Ohio and Adjoining Counties:

GOEBEL,

The greatest Saddle and Harness Stallion of his age in Kentucky, will make the season of 1904 at E. D. Oldham's stable, three-quarter miles north of Beaver Dam, Ky., on the Beaver Dam and Hartford road, at $20.00 to insure a living colt, or $15.00 cash when mare is bred, with return privilege if mare does not become with foal, or money returned, at breeder's option. Care will be taken to prevent accidents, but I will not be responsible should any occur. Season fee is due when colt is foaled or mare parted with. A lien will be retained on colt until fee is paid.

This magnificent young horse is pronounced by the best judges of horse flesh to be the greatest saddle and harness stallion of his age in Kentucky. He has been shown at the best fairs in the State each year since he was a two-year-old, and has been defeated less times than any horse of his class. He has never gone away from a fair with less than two blue strings and has graduated at most all. To better introduce him, he is the black stallion that graduated at the Ohio County Fair last fall.

DESCRIPTION.

GOEBEL is a coal-black stallion, three white feet, 16 hands high, and will be five years old the first of May. He has fine style and action, and is a sound horse.

PEDIGREE.

GOEBEL was sired by Happy Bell, he by Happy Cross No. 52, in Saddle Horse Breeders' Association. Happy Cross is by Giffard's Chief 2253; first dam by old Star Denmark. Happy Bell's first dam is Mollie W., by Fancy Goldust, he by old Goldust 150. Second dam by imported Scythion. (thoroughbred.) Goebel's first dam by Rolla Goldust, he by Arabian Goldust, he by Dorsey's Goldust 150. Second dam by Dr. J. H. Thomas' old Cotton Picker. Goebel's first dam, a half sister to Nellie W., which was sold for $6,000.00 by Will Robertson, of Bardstown.

PREMIUM.—I will give to the best colt the season: second best colt, $10. Colts to be shown on fair grounds at Hartford, Ky., on Saturday before the fair in 1905. To prove my horse, I will give $100 for the best colt on day of show, if owner will accept.

OTHER STOCK.—I will also bring Issiah, my thoroughbred Poland China boar, which will serve sows at $1.00 cash. Also some nice pigs and calves for sale. Early colts stand the best chance for the premium, so come early and get the premium colt and choice of pigs. I will begin the season the 22nd of March. I extend a cordial welcome to all to investigate my stock.

LAND IS WEALTH

More than that—land is the source of all wealth. The ratio of population to acreage is the sliding scale upon which opportunity is gauged, success determined. Cut the number of land-holders in any State in the Union in two, and what is the result? It's simply arithmetic—opportunities doubled in that State. What if three-fourths the population be eliminated? Opportunities quadrupled; and so on. That's the condition in the great Southwest, Arkansas, Indian Territory and Oklahoma. This vast territory is supporting less than one-fourth the population of its capacity, Fertile, a land where wheat and cotton thrive side by side—where two yearly vegetable crops are demonstrated possibilities—the greatest fruit section in the country; but that's only half the story. The low ratio of population to acreage makes land cheap—that's the main point. There's room for success in the great Southwest. Illustrated literature sent on request.
